

There is still time to have your say on the Council's revised Local Toilet Strategy.

Flintshire County Council has been inviting residents and visitors to share their opinions on its draft revised Local Toilet Strategy.

The consultation opened on 28th September and all comments must be received before Friday 22nd December 2023.

Originally published in May 2019, the Flintshire Local Toilet Strategy aimed to evaluate and enhance the quality and quantity of public toilets across Flintshire, ensuring the provision of clean, safe, accessible and sustainable toilets for residents and visitors to the county.

The strategy has recently been reviewed based on feedback received during a public consultation held earlier this summer and residents are now being invited to again share their views on the new revised draft Strategy.

This revised strategy covers various aspects of toilet facilities including those for babies and individuals with disabilities, which can be found in public buildings, private establishments, and council-maintained public toilets.

The views and opinions collected during this consultation will help deliver the final Strategy covering the period 2023 – 2025
